Re: SDG&E proposal

Dear Sir or Madam,

I live in Lexington, Virginia, and have very fond memories of visiting beautiful Anza-Borrego Desert State Park. The park is home to wildflowers, palm groves, bighorn sheep, and glorious views. I was alarmed to learn that SDG&E power company is seeking to put tall, high-wattage towers right through the middle of the park. The proposed Sunrise Powerlink line would slice through Tamarisk Grove and Grapevine Canyon, marring the incomparable beauty of this pristine environment.

I also understand that the power company could take advantage of alternative routes for the power line, such as the Highway 8 corridor, rather than defacing State Park land. I strongly urge the Public Utilities Commission to protect the gem that is Anza-Borrego Desert State Park so that future generations may enjoy its unspoiled beauty.

Thank you for considering my comments.

Sincerely,

Nancy Bidlack
