The existing view to the north-northeast toward the rugged ridges that the Modified Route D Alternative would ascend to the Modified Route D Substation Alternative location near the distant ridgetops. This view is from Key Viewpoint 69 on Japatul Road, just east of the route's span of the road and approximately two miles west of the intersection with Japatul Valley Road and Lyons Valley Road. While the substation location would be on private land, most of the route north of Japatul Road would cross public lands administered by Cleveland National Forest.
